We've found it – the Temple of the Crystal Skull! Time to take this skull inside and finally solve its mystery.
Let's go, Mutt!
Right behind you!
Now all we need is...hey, where'd it go?
Weren't we being followed...?
Looking for this, Dr. Jones?
Hey, that's ours!
Nyet! It belongs to us...as do the secrets of this temple!
Okay, kid. When I say go...
CRACK
GO!

Ever been inside a long-lost temple before, kid? Let me give you a few tips.
First, watch out for booby-trapped stairs.
Now you tell me!
CRASH!
TZIUNG!
BONK!
TZIUNG!
Some walls shoot spears. You should probably duck.
Ducking!
TZIUNG!
Did I mention the booby-trapped stairs?
Yikes!
Sometimes the locals just don't want you around.
I'll apologize later!
R-U-U-U-MB
And eventually - if you're brave and lucky enough - you find what you came looking for.
So what are we waiting for? Let's go!

BUILDING UP SPEED!

It's a great day for a race, and what a race this is going to be! Let's meet our drivers!
That mysterious man of mystery, Racer X...
Snake Oiler, who has won many recent races under suspicious circumstances...
Hey, you know you love me!
Taejo Togokhan, captain of the Togokahn Motors racing team...
And Speed Racer, the rookie driver of the amazing Mach 5!
Good luck, Speed!
Eek eek!
Ha ha! Chim Chim hopes you win, too!
Everybody's counting on me. I've got to win this race!
And they're off! This is going to be one intense race, folks!
Let's go, Mach 5!
Those two are too far ahead to catch up. Time to do something sneaky!

Ha ha! Eat my dust, losers!
Look out!
Whoa!
And as Snake Oiler approaches the finish line...it's the Mach 5, coming out of nowhere to win the race!
Ook ook!
Take these, Speed – and go get him!
Wow! Thanks, Racer X!
Hey, No fair!
You did it, Speed!
I did! I really won the race!
But I wonder why Racer X helped me like that...
Heeeelp!
Come back here! I'll teach you to mess with my car!

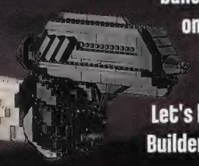
ADVENTURE RETURNS THIS SUMMER!

CLONE TROOPER ON THE LOOSE!

Have you heard the news, BrickMasters? The computer-animated Star Wars: The Clone Wars™ is coming to movie theaters and TV screens all around the world! To celebrate the latest chapter in the Star Wars™ saga, the LEGO Model Shop has built a life-sized statue of Captain Rex, one of the main characters from the new series.



Let's hear from designer and LEGO Master Builder Erik Varszegi about his creation!

So who is this guy, and what's his story?

Let me introduce you to Rex, a Clone Trooper captain featured in Star Wars: The Clone Wars. He's Anakin Skywalker's right-hand man in the period just before Episode III: Revenge of the Sith.

What made you decide to build a life-sized Captain Rex?

Lucasfilm suggested that we make Rex, who we see a lot of during the course of the season, and whose extra gear and armor markings really set him apart from the other clones. I really like the "eye" patterns on his helmet in particular; they are very reminiscent of early designs for Boba Fett's armor.

How long did it take to build? Do you know how many bricks went into the model?

We usually don't give out the number of bricks used in a model. We keep that knowledge under wraps and use it for "Guess the Number of Bricks" contests. But I can tell you that it took me somewhere in the neighborhood of 90 hours to design, and the production team spent 125 hours assembling it!

Have you seen the new Clone Wars movie and TV series?

During the design phase of Rex, one of our friends from Lucas Licensing stopped by for a tour of the Model Shop. After we showed him around the office, we sat down to watch some scenes from the new series. It looked and sounded fantastic. Seeing the actual animation was very helpful to us in designing the models, and it was a real thrill to be able to watch some of the series so long before anyone else!

What will happen to the Captain Rex model now?

Rex made his debut at FAO Schwarz in Manhattan alongside our new Indiana Jones™ LEGO sculpture. After that, he visited the New York Toy Fair in February, and this summer you can look for him at the San Diego Comic-Con and at LEGOLAND California.

ALL ABOUT ARCHAEOLOGY!

HI, I'M INDIANA JONES! YOU KNOW, I'M NOT ONLY A WORLD-FAMOUS ADVENTURER – I'M ALSO AN ARCHAEOLOGIST! WANT TO FIND OUT MORE ABOUT WHAT I DO? KEEP READING!

What's Archaeology?

Archaeology (pronounced AR-kee-OLL-o-jee) means "ancient knowledge." People who study it are called "archaeologists."

What Do Archaeologists Do?

Archaeologists study the past. They hunt for long lost artifacts, ancient cities, and other signs of how people lived centuries ago!

Do Archaeologists Find Treasure?

Yes! Archaeologists often find ancient and priceless artifacts. But they don't keep them for themselves – they put them in museums so everyone can get to see them and learn from them!

How Do Archaeologists Know Where to Look?

They study history, myths and legends, and then survey areas by foot or from the air. When they find the right spot, it's time to break out the shovels and start digging!

What's the Most Exciting Part About Archaeology?

An archaeologist is like a detective, a scientist, and an explorer all rolled into one, solving some of the greatest mysteries of history!

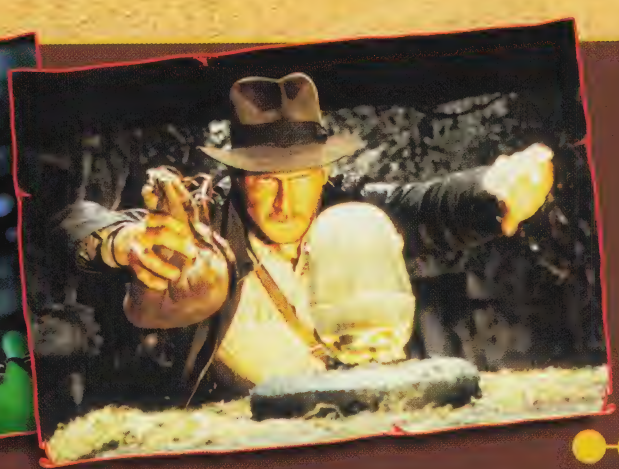
ANCIENT EGYPT

Indy's adventures also take him to the ancient city of Tanis in Egypt. Tanis was built about 1,200 years ago. It was the northern capital of Egypt for some time, but was eventually abandoned in the 6th century A.D. when it was threatened by flooding from the nearby Lake Manzala.

"Before starting a dig, an archaeology team usually surveys the area, either on foot or by air."

THE GOLDEN IDOL

At the beginning of the Raiders of the Lost Ark movie, Indiana Jones explores a booby-trapped temple to find the long-lost golden idol of the Hovitos. The Hovitos were made up for the movie, but they were based on a real South American tribe called the Chachapoyas. Known as the Warriors of the Clouds, they lived in the Andes Mountain region of Peru. One of their most famous structures is the fortress of Kuelap, made of more than 400 buildings surrounded by high stone walls.



In my adventures, I've hunted for artifacts like the Holy Grail and the Lost Ark! But real archaeologists have found some pretty amazing things too, including the treasures on these pages.

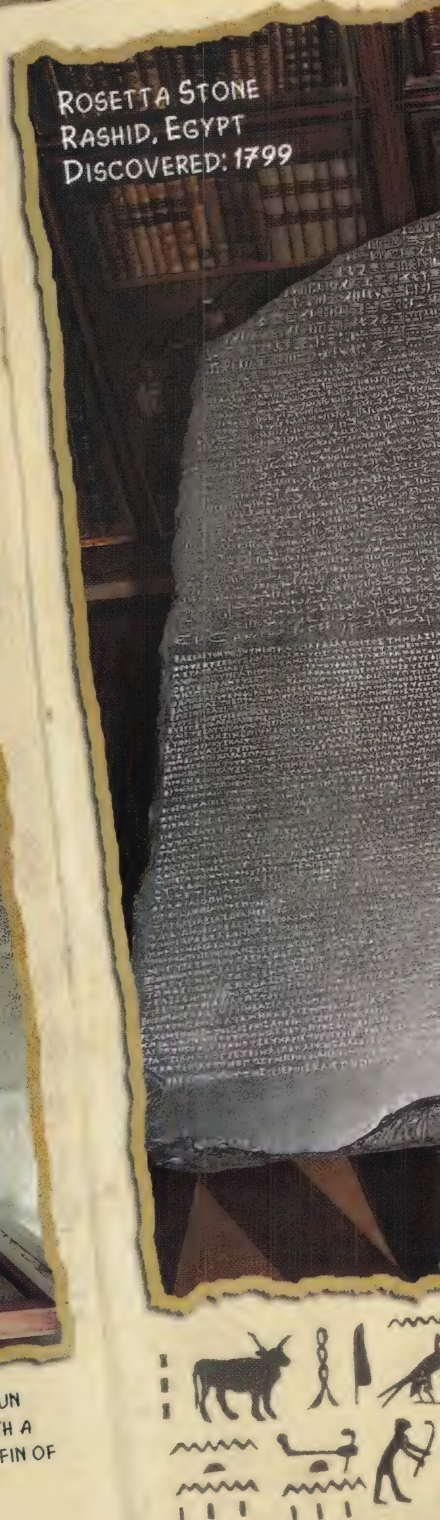
INDY'S TREASURES OF THE PAST!

The Terracotta Army
Xian, China
Discovered: 1974

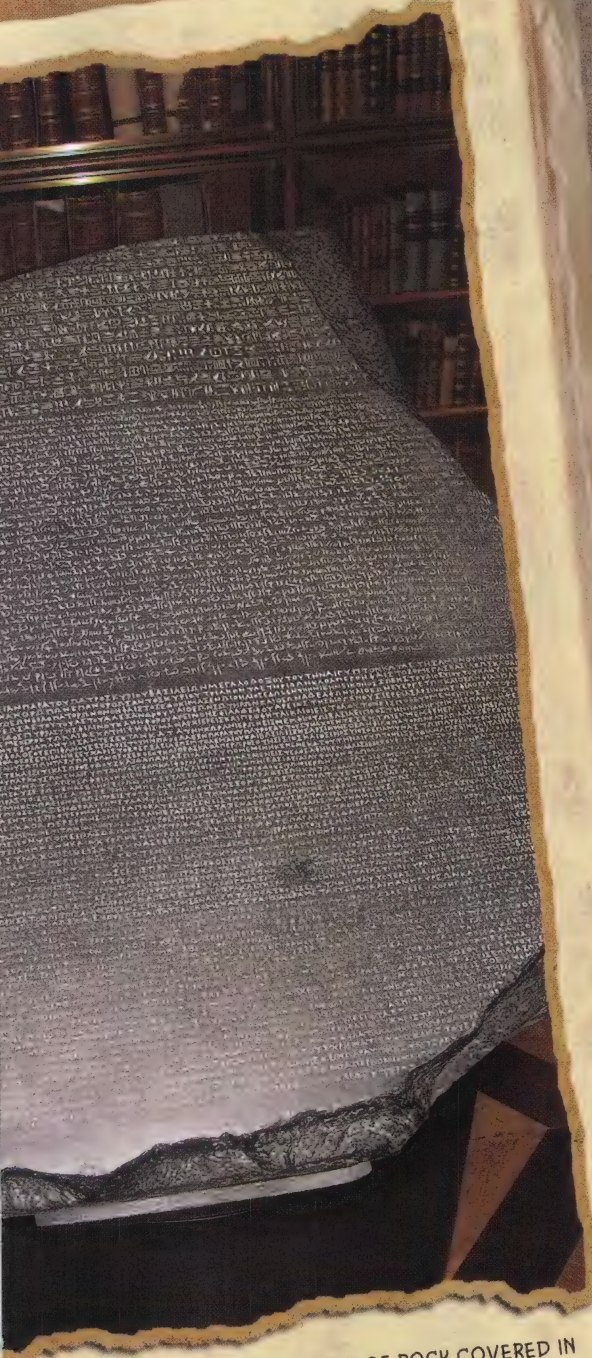
These life-size clay sculptures of soldiers were created to guard the tomb of China's first emperor, Qin Shi Huangdi. There are 7000 soldiers and 600 clay horses, each of them unique, and still intact after being buried for 2200 years!

Tutankhamun's Tomb
Valley of the Kings, Egypt
Discovered: 1922

One of the most famous archaeological discoveries if the tomb of Tutankhamun (sometimes called "King Tut"). The tomb was still mostly intact, and filled with a golden shrine, thrones, weapons, furniture, wine and food, and the actual coffin of the ancient Pharaoh.



Rosetta Stone
Rashid, Egypt
Discovered: 1799

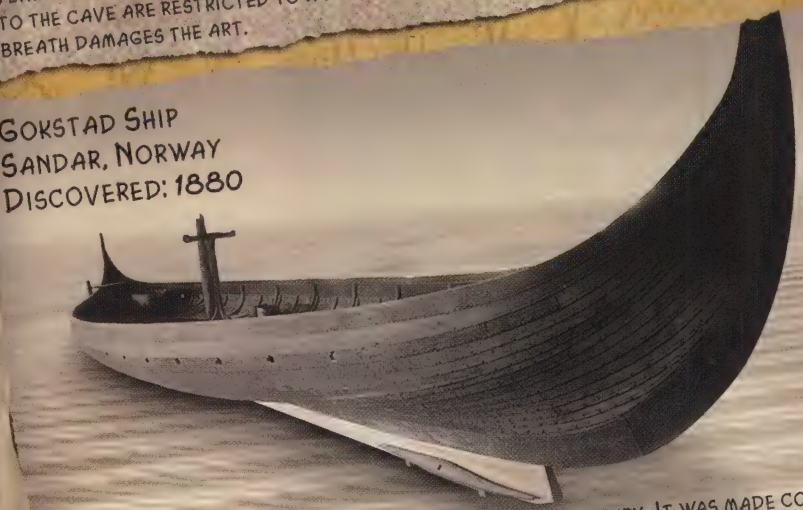


The Rosetta stone is a slab of rock covered in writing in three different languages, including Egyptian hieroglyphics and Greek. (Hieroglyphics were a picture-based alphabet used in ancient Egypt.) The writing on the stone made it much easier for scientists to translate hieroglyphics.

Cave Paintings
Altamira Cave, Spain
Discovered: 1879

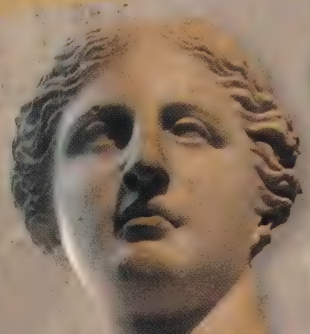
The paintings on the walls of the Altamira cave in Spain are some of the most famous examples of prehistoric art. The artwork is between 14,000 and 16,500 years old and was preserved thanks to a rockfall that sealed the cave. Visits to the cave are restricted to a few per day, because the dampness of people's breath damages the art.

Gokstad Ship
Sandar, Norway
Discovered: 1880



This Viking vessel probably sailed in the late 9th century. It was made completely of oak and was found underneath a mound near Oslo, Norway, perfectly preserved. Archaeologists discovered a skeleton in a burial chamber in the ship believed to be that of King Olaf Geirstad-Alf.

Venus de Milo
Milos, Greece
Discovered: 1820



The Venus de Milo is one of many sculptures from ancient Greece that has been damaged over the centuries (the statue is famous for missing its arms). It's believed to have been sculpted between 130 and 90 BC and is made completely of marble.

BIONICLE® BUILDING STEPS!

NIAZESK

The Niazesk are a species of tiny insects created long ago by t he Brotherhood of Makuta to keep larger Rahi beasts in check, using their toxic bite. Makuta Mutran brought some samples of the insects to Karda Nui, where the strange waters mutated the Niazesk to great size and increased the potency of their poison. Now they haunt the swamps of the core, one more danger in a land full of them.

Build the Niazesk using pieces from 8687 Toa Pohatu, 8692 Vamprah, and 8697 Toa Ignika.
